Union Catalogues for German Libraries

MINERVA – MINERVA-PLUS – Conference / Workshop
7./8. 04.2005 Berlin, Germany

I'm looking for information on tourism in Germany and have no idea which German libraries I should consult.

What can I do?

- use of existing title records 74%
- use of records from external sources 5%
- original cataloguing 21%

Distinctive features

KOBV

- Cataloguing in the local system
- Search engine instead of a central union catalogue

ZDB

- Nationwide database for serials; data transfer to all union catalogues
- Editorial office: Staatsbibliothek Berlin (State Library in Berlin)
- System administration: Die Deutsche Bibliothek (German National Library)

Why Do We Need Union Catalogues?

- Cooperative cataloguing (shared records)
- Use of records from external sources
- Use of authority files
- Standardized codes
- Integrated library systems
- Overall retrieval
- Improved inter-library loan

Aim

User:

1. Libraries
2. Patrons

Economisation

Quality improvement

Features Of Regional Union Catalogues

- Cooperative cataloguing in a common database according to a set of rules
- Cooperative cataloguing in the union catalogue of serials (ZDB)
- Cooperative subject analysis according to RSWK/RVK/DDC
- Instrument for information desks
- Instrument for inter-library loan
- Data flow and connection to the local catalogues
- Data exchange with nationwide catalogues

Cooperation Between Union Catalogues

Aims of the Consortium of Library Networks

- To introduce and provide common innovative services
- To establish agreements on common standards for data communication
- To represent member interests in official bodies and institutions

Current Examples for the Cooperation of Union Catalogues

- Online inter-library loan between union catalogues
- Introduction of MARC21 instead of the German format MAB
- Discussion about the introduction of AACR instead of the German code RAK
 - AACR and RAK have different structures
 - AACR as future standard?
- Coordinate cataloguing of new literature to avoid duplication of work
